About the CISO Executive Summit & Roundtable events

A learning and high level networking forum rather than a 'trade show', the CISO Summits are designed for people to share ideas and build trust based relationships - unique events designed for the world's elite information security directors and managers. The unique learning format - case studies, typically inaccessible keynote speakers, panel discussions, thought leadership exercises, roundtables- makes them the ideal opportunity for CISOs, CSOs and risk managers to innovate approaches to information security strategy amongst like-minded peers.
